Version: v1.0 Is there a project category or category hierarchy? I found nothing in the way of project categories or even folder hierarchy. This looks like it should be a no-brainer but no one I know has really made this part clear. Is there a way to search for a specific project? It seems like there should be some kind of search built in. Any way of batch changing project due dates? It seems there is a way of batch changing project due dates (via calendar). It's not explained very well but it seems possible via the calendar. Is there a way to manage users or groups? There is a group management system which I am told will be improved in the future. Right now you can only add/remove users but there is no way of specifying their access to projects, tasks or subtasks. Is there a way to see what project category a project has been assigned? For now it seems only one of the groups can assign categories to projects. If this is how it's supposed to work I guess it's not much of a problem but it would be nice to see this clearly documented. How can I add more project categories? Currently the system is pretty much limited to one project category per user. I would like to be able to have multiple project categories which could each be assigned to a group of users. In this way it could be easy for me to tell people what they should be working on. For example I have the categories Product Development, User Interface, Project Management and Project Tracking. I would like to be able to add my Project Manager group to the Product Development category and have the Project Tracker group be added to the User Interface category. What happens if the project is deleted? I have found that if I delete a project I can still access the list of projects and their tasks from the left hand menu. I have not been able to figure out what happens to the tasks and subtasks in the project if the project is deleted. What happens when you close the project? When you close the project it seems to be closed in the WorkTimer Product Key.co.uk system but the tasks and subtasks are still in the database. If you open up the project a few minutes later it says the project has been closed. How can I bulk edit a project's due date? There is no way of bulk editing project due dates. How can I search for a project within a category? There is a search bar

About game: Kelp Me Online is a fun and thought-provoking game that takes a humorous look at the over-abundance of screen time in our youth and raises questions about the many choices that lie ahead for the younger generation. In the game, users must navigate through a series of digital frames to rescue a green turtle that has been washed onto shore. To help guide them in the right direction, an expert Internet surf-caster named Surfix gives users hints as to where they should go. The more actions they perform, the more characters they
