Please read this Agreement carefully before placing your order or accepting our offer of goods or services. Our agreement to sell. Subject to these terms and conditions we agree to sell to you the goods listed in your order, those goods and any parts of them listed in a subsequent order. We will also arrange for delivery of your order from our designated suppliers. We offer various services which may be purchased on your behalf or linked to the goods and services offered, such as courier delivery, installation, call to repair and telephone support services. We will advise you of the cost of such services in the description of any service you request. Your rights As long as the goods and services remain in your possession or are in transit from our suppliers to you, we will not be responsible for any loss, cost or damage caused by you or any other person to the goods or services. We will have no liability for any loss or damage howsoever caused to any goods or services received from us and whether under this or any other contract, whether such loss or damage is caused by you or us or any other person. We may limit the quantity of any goods available or the range of goods you may order.

If we do we will inform you of any such restriction at the time of placing the order or at any time before the goods are delivered. Our liability We will not be liable for any loss or damage to the goods caused by you or anyone else, or in consequence of any defect in the goods or services until you have notified us of the defect or damage in writing. We will not be liable for any loss or damage to the goods caused by you or anyone else, or in consequence of any defect in the goods or services. The purchase of the goods and services from us shall constitute the acceptance by you of the terms of this Agreement. Exclusion of contract liability We will not be liable for any loss or damage to the goods whether as a result of the negligence or breach of any statutory duty of e79caf774b

A: This is an old question, but I found it with a search. I had the same problem and posted an answer on the question you posted, where someone suggested to try running the setup with a custom command line. And that did the trick for me. A: I upgraded to 10.0.2 and I didn't have the same problem. A: Try running the setup in Compatibility Mode. This may solve your problem, although I have never had to use this method to get my programs to work. Q: set background image from library I would like to set a background image for my page, which is a part of my Android application. Unfortunately it is a part of a different package, so I need a custom way of referencing it. My first instinct was to use an AssetManager and load a resource into it, but the following error shows up on my Eclipse : java.lang.IllegalStateException: AssetManager has not been initialized The solution is obviously to use AssetManager, but for some reason I can't get it to work - it just shows my default Android image and the whole image is shown greyed out. My code is the following: package com.myapp; import android.app.Activity; import android.content.res.AssetManager; import android.graphics.Bitmap; import android.graphics.BitmapFactory; public class myActivity extends Activity { @Override protected void onCreate(Bundle savedInstanceState) { super.onCreate(savedInstanceState); AssetManager am = getAssets(); Bitmap b = BitmapFactory.decodeResource(getAssets(),R.drawable.favicon); setContentView(b); } } I found a similar question, but mine is a bit different - the solution is to use setContentView(...) in the activity, which I don't do. Any ideas? Thank you. A: It seems that you are not using the API correctly. But since you use Eclipse and they
