Fifa 22 Free Download will feature authentic player likenesses, with over 150 real-life team lineups of 50 unique national teams, players, stadiums and kits. The reworked dribbling and tackling animations, refined player sprint animations, and new passing animations deliver enhanced, smoother visuals and Player Impact Technology (PIT) - a brand new animation system that dynamically reflects player injuries, fatigue, and other game-changing conditions. It also gives players unprecedented control over the pace of gameplay and the ball, leading to more exciting, skill-based matches.

FIFA 22 introduces "HyperMotion Technology" which uses motion capture data collected from 22 real-life players playing a complete high-intensity football match in motion capture suits. The data collected from player movements, tackles, aerial duels and on-ball actions is used to power FIFA 22 gameplay. Q: Javascript iterator implementation - Object.keys

I'm writing a small implementation of a Javascript iterator, in the sense that it allows iteration over any property of an object. This is what I have so far.

var iteratee = function(obj, key) { var newObj = {}; for (var key in obj) { newObj[key] = obj[key]; } return newObj; }

My question is - does the newObj ever have to be returned from this function? I.e. could you define the function in the way:

var iteratee = function(
```
