The top-down perspective of this computer game is reminiscent of games like the original Elite Dangerous. This game is a simple action-RPG experience. To survive in the Neo-Zero simulation, you will need to make use of stealth, gunplay, puzzle-solving, and all kinds of science. The gameplay is simple: use the WASD keys to deflect bullets, avoid deadly lasers and machine guns, climb a variety of structures, solve puzzles, and beat up a few husky military men. There's a story: As a (reluctant) Oxylabs researcher, you are forced to perform lab tests on the scientist's Propulsion Gun. During a morning of testing, you find yourself stuck in the middle of a sticky situation: a military-enforced shutdown of the unethical Oxylabs. You will need to escape the facility before these military men show up. Alpha, a lovable little robot with an amazing ability to sense danger, will lead you on a journey to escape the Neo-Zero simulation. He would make a great boyfriend if he wasn't trapped in that box. Alpha isn't the only little robot around! Each encounter has a golden retriever robot running alongside you, as well as a ninja turtle-esque character from the previous game. Oxylabs themselves have also returned. As you walk through the facilities, you will meet the scientists who created the game and those who run the place. Their personalities are as varied as the puzzles they offer! Dystopia: Your world has been built by one scientists who can't seem to decide what he wants to do with the world. He managed to put this whole simulation together, yet he can't figure out what the heck to do with it! This has created a world with a few different "iterations" of the simulation. The main one is the one where the world has fallen apart. The protagonist, Apollo, is a scientist at Oxylabs. He believes that his world is nothing more than a simulation, and that any progress through the simulation is purely for his research. The government, however, disagrees. They think that this world is theirs to keep. That's why the U.N. are keeping tabs on him... and they won't stop until he is silenced. Galaxy Crash: You will find that there is a glitch in this game that is known to "do things". This game would be nothing more than an

You are a wandering innkeeper plagued by nightmares of a mysterious cataclysm that occurred during a brief stint in the armor of a Dragon. The dreams feel like nightmares, but when you wake up you remember that they were real. Awakened memories and lost dreams will be the key to solving the mystery of the Upturned Inn as your quest is one of vengeance and discovery. The real question is what are you going to do? The real question is, what should you do? What are you to make of these strange dreams, and their connection to the strange hotel above the clouds and beyond time? (please do not rate this game poorly just because it is free. It does not deserve to be rated poorly.) Rate this game: Leave a Reply Name * E-mail * Website Notify me of new posts by email. Happy New Year! Oct 26, 2009 Rating: Downloaded! How could we not not celebrate Halloween with a spooky source like Undertale? Undertale is the best game I've played in a long time, and its Halloween setting has me grinning from ear to ear. The game is such a fantastic ode to videogame culture I had to ask, "Is that going to be released for Christmas as well?". Rating: A Simple Game About Monsters and Love Oct 25, 2009 This brief Flash game is one of the best I've ever played. I can't think of many other games out there with such a profound story and presentation. You play as a cat who's lost his beloved. You wander the world and meet different monsters in a bid to find the place where your family died. It's got a beautiful art style that really shows the emotion and loneliness of a lost pet. It's quite poignant, and I absolutely love it. Rating: Enormous Rats Attack! Oct 24, 2009 Comments: Wolf and I have been playing this game on the train every night for the last few weeks. It's everything we've been saying on this blog about cute games. We love it. Rating: The Real Wolf - The Wolf In Us Oct 23, 2009 Comments: RAT as a command? That's clever. It's one of the best uses of the command ever. Rating: World of Furrys c9d1549cdd

Impact of sub-wavelength gratings in cavity-enhanced high-spectral-resolution Raman imaging. In this Letter, we demonstrate in-situ high-spectral-resolution imaging of a sample at different depths with a large spectral-bandwidth in a mode-locked Ti:sapphire laser system. Significant effects of sub-wavelength gratings (SWG) are observed in a relatively small sample. This Letter also investigates the use of such a design for cavity-enhanced, high-spectral-resolution Raman imaging. The capability of extracting the spectral-bandwidth of the difference in the two Raman images is evaluated and compared with the use of a black-body source. Q: How do I make a hide/show button that works both in different pages in CSS or jQuery? I have to make a button that will always open an element(div) from one of my pages. I managed to make it work with CSS but I want to make it with jQuery, I tried this and it didn't work. I'll leave my code here. `.element { display: none; }` Open a div A: I think you are looking for JQuery click. You can use it like this `$("a").click(function(){ $("#dialog").dialog('open'); });`; DEMO Determination of human
