Re: mailto: (I'm pretty confident that the link doesn't work. If you copy and paste it into your web browser, you'll notice it won't work. The recipient address should be "Mailto:///" and not "myemail@address.com". So far as inbound emails from folks who use a mailto: link, they all end up in your junk mail folder. Stuart Microsoft MVP -

Email "We're the products of our choices, we're the products of our choices. I'm the product of my choices. My choices. My choices." When I try and follow the link to validate my profile I get an error message and a confirmation code. I think I have the codes right so I can get through but I can't find a way to follow the link on my work computer. Does anybody know how to test a mailto: link in a work environment? Re: mailto: (If you are not using Windows Live Mail, then the address myemail@address.com will simply end up in your Junk/Spam folder. In order to get a link to work properly in this situation, you need to create an account with your own domain name. For instance, I created a company that sells replacement parts for the RV market.
