Q: How to configure a custom authentication in spring? We have a complex app using spring authentication. A customer have asked to implement a way to authenticate only for a particular user. For example: I am logged in I try to login as user D The authentication fails If the authentication fails then we want to find out the IP address of the user logged in and check if it belongs to a registered customer. The customer don't want to implement the password and username. They would prefer to do some IP checking first, allowing user D to login if the authentication succeeds. Is there an easy way to do this with spring-security? A: I think you need to have a look at the IP-based Authentication used by Spring Security. You can find a basic example on the web. Cheers The news: A year after the end of the crisis in the Gulf, the gap between oil companies and governments is wider than it's been at any time since the oil price crashed in the wake of the financial crisis, according to a report published on Tuesday. The "shadowy oil market" has put huge strain on companies in the region, especially those that were managing their finances by using debt. In May, a report from the International Monetary Fund predicted the Middle East would need $200 billion in external support to avoid a recession. Financial support for ailing nations in the region has been dwindling as global oil prices have risen slowly to new highs in recent months. "The Middle East — at least in OPEC and the GCC [Organisation of the Petroleum Exporting Countries and the Gulf Cooperation Council], and perhaps in other countries, is caught in a vicious cycle, a debt overhang and high unemployment combined with weak growth and declining oil prices" the researchers at the Institute of International Finance wrote in their quarterly report. The fact that companies in the region's oil markets were borrowing heavily and investing those funds in oil, often in fragile countries, was leading to more volatility in oil prices and damaging the region's economy. The IFF study shows a sharp drop in direct borrowing by oil companies among the 12 nations that make up the Organization of the Petroleum Exporting Countries, which raises the question of whether the price of oil will rise beyond current levels before it comes down. The report concluded that many of the countries in the region could return to growth by spending on infrastructure and industrial modernization

Q: Python + MySQL: connection failed I am trying to connect to a MySQL db using python. I am using Eclipse as my IDE. The connection appears to be failing in the buildfile in the following ways: adb.adb(26,0) Fatal Python error: Failed to write: Broken pipe Any ideas? A: It sounds as though the script is using the subprocess module, where "broken pipe" is the common error message of a program having exhausted its system resources. By default the "should never happen" exception is suppressed, so the fact that your program is dying (with a python traceback) suggests to me that there might be a bug in one of your modules. You could ask the Eclipse PyDev team to take a look at it, see their bug tracking system for instructions. fertilizers India's march towards economic and industrial growth depends greatly on its access to power. While coal-fired power has been the major source of electricity in India, the government is now looking at diversifying away from its traditional source of coal, and instead looking at cleaner, cost-efficient, low-carbon alternatives like wind and solar. And it's a strategy that's paying off. India now generates 40% of its electricity from non-fossil fuels. Last year's contribution of around 2,825 terawatt hours (TWh) of non-fossil energy generation surpassed the previous year's record of 2,277 TWh.Establishment and characterization of the pre-B acute lymphoblastic leukemia cell line Nalm-6. This pre-B cell line has a rearranged immunoglobulin heavy-chain gene at 18q11.2 and a surface immunoglobulin mu heavy-chain gene at 14q32-32.1. This pre-B cell line is kappa positive, has positive cytoplasmic IgM, and no detectable surface IgM. The lymphoid characteristics of this pre-B cell line were confirmed by B cell-specific immunoglobulin expression, CD19, CD22, and CD38. The Nalm-6 cell line has been maintained for more than 10 years in suspension culture, and
