You can also start a conversation with us on Twitter, hang out in Google+, or catch us on the Google+ Community. Larry has said that the Google+ Community has become part of the show and becoming a regular listener gets you access to the Google+ feed to see what Larry, Bill, and Mickey are saying on the show at any given time. Use an Android device to get access to Google+, the Android app store, and some of the Android Wear apps - but keep in mind that there are some limitations. Android support for gaming may be spotty. Call us at +1-786-531-0440 . This month's Google+ topic will focus on answering listener questions from the show, and one listener question came from an inquiry on whether it is possible to run Linux on a Chromebook, and not just Android. More on Google Maps API services, including Google Maps Javascript API, Google Maps JavaScript Library, Google Earth, Google Maps Data API, and Google Maps API Terms of Service. Don't forget to follow us on Twitter, Google+, and read the show notes. The Google Earth plugin can now be disabled, and the QGIS plugin can be disabled. We have also added a plethora of new functions, both in the main QGIS interface and in the main menus. Plus, we have fixed several major issues in QGIS, and added more stable stability and performance. Google provides Python and SQL tools to the public as quickly as possible, so that the community can more easily contribute to any of its projects. This release provides a new Python API endpoint, a new SOAP-based API endpoint, and adds support for the Google App Engine.

Serif GeoExplorer v8.0.0 for Windows & Mac OS X is the latest release of Serif's acclaimed offline mapping application. Serif GeoExplorer is a stand-alone application which uses built-in map data supplied by OSM to provide a complete GIS solution providing you with accurate street and area maps of the whole world. One of the most thrilling facts about the 3D world mapping is the possibility of producing maps that can be manipulated, or even re-imaged, using only a 3D modeling program. As shown in Figure 9-13, it is possible to mark a given point on the map, moving it from one place to the other while still keeping the original relation that exists between the two positions. This happens because the GAR IVE LRM2 was marked to begin its measurement. Once I bought my DIC camera I knew, gosh, we're gonna be able to do really cool research with DIC and 3D and I kind of started to think, well, let's say, why don't we do a bone or a teeth experiment. Let's take some dead, expired bone and let's look at it. We know the bone, it's gonna be fractured, it's gonna have cracks. And we can see if we can see those cracks in 3D with this DIC camera. The National Transportation Safety Board (NTSB) determined that the probable cause of the accident was a mechanical failure of the left aileron control yoke, the result of fatigue cracking due to improper design of the control yoke, which allowed the yoke to be mechanically broken during flight. The pilot was found to be responsible for 26% of the accident, due to her manual trimming of the aircraft's nose. This is a hands-on course, taught by former JPL scientist Erin Bauer, that will let you explore and answer the question: what can a satellite tell us about the economy? Can satellites see a recession coming and is there anything we can do about it? 5ec8ef588b
