Windows Vista Build 5384 Beta 2 EXCLUSIVE

By build 5354, 5 wallpapers were added, as well as a handful of new sample images. Once again, the Starter SKU wallpaper set was updated, with the image of the glaucous owl being moved to the set from the Indian Starter version. The second image was also replaced. With the release of Build 5317, the samples were reduced to 10 from the previous 15. Following the release of Build 5321, the remaining 5 wallpapers were reduced to 3, a move that only brought 5 wallpapers into the game from all of Vista, and also returned the default wallpapers to being 4:3. It would seem to me that this is to make room for new wallpapers, but the idea of reducing the samples at the last minute, does not sit right with me, but that is a subject for another post. Following this change, the sample images were again changed, as more specific wallpapers were selected. The image of the honeylocust tree changed to simply 'honey tree', while the images of Lake Saranac and the prairie were both changed to images from the Canadian version of XP. Starting with build 5365, the Vista build numbers were moved down to the previous number plus 100, by the time they would reach 5384, they would become the build number of the next build number, with the Vista build becoming the current build, the following build being the 5385, and so on. However, something changed after build 5365; I don't know what it is, but the next twenty images here are all 1250x1024 instead of the 1600x1200 that the previous art would have made you expect. However, for some reason, the background would become much clearer starting with build 5366, even though the sharpness is at the high end of the scale, and even though the general hue is blue instead of white (the next image has a white background).

user experience across all of the desktop applications in windows vista. windows vista is the second member of the windows nt family of operating systems to be released. it is developed by the microsoft windows engineering group in redmond, washington. microsoft released the first pre-release build of windows vista in august 2003. it is the first os in the windows nt family to support 64-bit computing. this allows a 64-bit processor to support more than 4gb of memory, but it does not provide native support for the hardware-assisted virtualization of memory used by windows server 2008. 5ec8ef588b
