FonePaw Screen Recorder 2.2.1 free download.Q: What's a good database-backed game engine for an embedded application, c++ I would like to develop a simple embedded game for a SPARC microcontroller. I am writing the game using assembly and c, so I don't want to build a complete engine, but rather use an existing one. What are the state of the art libraries for an embedded (tiny) application? As far as I know, both Ogre 3d and Quake3. There is also the ogre-embedded package, but it can't be used under windows and the git repository seems to be abandoned. Do you know any other engine that I could use? Edit: I know (and I think I can build) 04aeff104c
